

PRACTICE FOCUS

Joseph Mathew's practice focuses on protecting intellectual property (IP), minimizing IP risk and enforcing and defending patents in various industries. Joe achieves this primarily through domestic and foreign patent and trademark preparation and procurement, intellectual property litigation, patent analysis and due diligence.

Joe assists clients ranging from entrepreneurial start-ups to large multinational corporations in emerging technology fields including medical devices, biotechnology, textiles as well as tools and machinery. Joe has significant experience assisting clients with IP related matters to cardiovascular devices, orthopedic devices, prosthetics and surgical tools including catheters, heart valves and sutures & suture deployment instruments. He also routinely advises companies on various technology including fashion, textile manufacturing, computer hardware, cosmetics, cannabis manufacturing and mechanical innovations.
